ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a method for verifying the accuracy of hybridization experiments in which a plurality of probe biopolymers are hybridized to sample biopolymers, information concerning the hybridization level for each of the probe biopolymers obtained from the hybridization experiment is displayed together with similarity scores representing the similarities between base sequences of the respective probe biopolymers.